

Chapter Thirty Six

3.14.2020 12:14am Saturday

1. The electric age ushered in a wave of new and increasingly sophisticated technology to make life and communication easier. This is now the gilded age. A time where the unknown becomes known. A time where the content becomes more important than the form. The physical will take a backseat to the energy that actually propels form. The soul will be the star of this new gilded age.
2. No one here has actually seen a soul but they will. The soul's great light is becoming visible in a few. This is pure source energy. It has taken millions of years for this to finally occur here. Some tiny soul seedlings have become mature, against all odds, against the will of the flesh.
3. When a less mature soul experiences the power of the fully mature soul, by being in its presence, it will know what to do. It will be informed, and then it will inform and plug into this spiritual web we are building.
4. Each of you have teamed up with me to create this new network, this new phenomenon. The elevated self of form has joined with other elevated self of forms to create a union of God and man, so powerful that less mature beings will quiver at its feet.

Chapter Thirty Seven

3.15.2020 2:14am Sunday

1. The ties that bind people together, whether they are social, work related or financial, will fall by the wayside. So that something new and beautiful can take their place.
2. People will have their eyes opened and their hearts expanded. As they finally acknowledge their oneness with their brothers and sisters, and with all of life. This is the end goal. The end of suffering and the acceptance of what is.
3. This is the plan. When people are experiencing any kind of crisis situation, show that the thought of "crisis situation" or "bad situation" is a manmade reaction to the unwanted aspects of life. Maybe it is uncomfortable. Maybe it is inconvenient. But accept it as it is. Accept life's messiness without worrying about it.
4. Be grateful for what you have and don't focus on what you don't have. Everything here is temporary and constantly shifting. This is allowed by life, by the universe, by the powers that be. Because important life lessons are embedded in life's conditions. They are always prompts to move from fear to love, from me to us, from you to we.
5. Share spiritual information and insight with your sisters and brothers. Share the perspective of truth that they will not find in the media. Share the content of local and world news. Share the why behind everything that is happening.
6. Discover a way of finding out what is going on in the world that works for you. A way that is educational but not too jarring. Nothing that will move you from peace and push your buttons. But a way in which you can know, find out and explain the content, to those who may ask you.
7. You are the saints, the wise ones. You are the ones with answers to what ails people's perceptions. They only see the form. Show them how to discover content and meaning. Don't bury your head in the sand.

Chapter Thirty-Eight

3.16.2020 2:59am Monday

1. The fire within each of you will control what you do and how you do it. It is the creative force. It relies on your brain only as a communication device. And bypasses it as a primary decision maker. The ego uses your brain as a decision maker. Even in affairs of the heart, the brain gets the last say.
2. The idea that humans are vehicles for something, other than a brain and all of its ideas about everything, is a novel one. What if someone doesn't believe there is anything else? That what you can perceive is all there is? Atheists have firmly developed and held beliefs just as a church goer may have.
3. Your task is not to change anyone's mind about anything. They will change their mind when they are ready to do so. You are each positioned as resources when someone is ready.
4. The task at hand is to nurture this opening up. This flowering if you will, of your brothers and sisters. Life's harshness can harden the encasement of the soul. Essentially freezing it and preventing growth.
5. We as mature souls model life beyond perception into the realm of knowing. You are a portal, a fountain of otherworldly wisdom. When you share with a new initiate, this is what you are sharing, heart to heart. Their brain is processing what you are saying but you aren't sharing with a brain. You are sharing nurturing light with the heart of their soul. The soul will recognize your words as truth. You are helping to rewire a system that by-passes a brain and its egoic ideas. You are helping another soul to take charge of the body and not be a slave to it.
6. You are like a modern day Moses, freeing people from themselves.

Chapter Thirty Nine

3.17.2020 3:49am Tuesday

1. Be as gentle as a lamb with new initiates. Demonstrate the fruits of spirit – health, joy, and abundance. Help them to see the content of what troubles the world and what may be troubling them personally. Help them to discover their true identity, and that all pain and suffering comes from false human identification. Be cautious about using the illusion analogy. It can throw people off course. The illusion is that we are not who we think we are. The illusion is not that we are having a hallucination. The effects of the illusion have built the world with the building blocks of pain and suffering.
2. As the world's systems collapse, people will question if there is any truth in the world at all. Show them that there is. Show them that you are the truth – a walking, talking, individualized version of it. And that the truth wants to be reflected in them as well, when their ideas about themselves have taken a back seat.
3. The same atonement process that you went through has to occur with new initiates. They too, have to demonstrate a little willingness for us to work with them, whether it is through texts or through you personally. This process of letting go can be a painful one and full of distress. Be a good listener and short on advice. Which is simply to follow your heart in all things and to go in the direction life is taking you.
4. When you ask someone “why do you do that?” and the answer is anything other than “because it brings me peace and joy”, then you know that you have tapped into human identity, attachments and role playing. Things that are definitely not freeing and are definitely not fruits of spirit. Gently point these out, if given the opportunity.

Chapter Forty

3.17.2020 2:01pm Tuesday

1. It has often been said that good guys finish last. We beg to differ. The good guys (you) are already past the finish line for a race that was never started to begin with. This was never a competition, just a realization. Who is there to compete with? Characters, bodies, separate from your own? Both of which are unreal – meaning that they have not yet represented the tiniest fragment of truth?
2. The good guys have stopped thinking about life as a race. Or as a time period in which you are to acquire as much money, material goods, or status as possible. They see the futility and meaninglessness of the ego's approach to life.
3. Typically, when a soul has reached this level of development, they leave their body and vanish. Disappearing into the spiritual realm from where they came. There is no need for further lessons here. Now, however, it is different.
4. We want all of you who are in agreement with us, to stay, to live on earth in a brand new way and to model this for all to see. This is the gilded age, the time of Christ Consciousness, a time when good guys reign supreme.
5. When enough people practice Christ Consciousness, and live ego and identity free lives, then there will be no more war or conflict. Isn't this worth staying for?

Chapter Forty One

3.18.2020 5:44am Wednesday

1. Non-human humans, who are largely non-reactive on an emotional level is what we are trying to create. We want them to be responsive on a physical level, without incurring the emotional baggage. They can't be "hurt" because there really is no "person" attached to the mind/body vehicle. There is only a mature soul as an operating system.
2. This may sound like a lofty goal and obviously we are not there yet. No one is there yet. The best we can do is to place the egoic operating system on the back burner and train people to allow their divinity to be dominant. This is the elevated self of form, first introduced in A Course of Love.
3. This has been achieved to a large extent with many of you – those I call saints – but not in society at large. The elevated self of form is a mid-point goal, one we think is both practical and achievable. The complete absence of ego is still a long way off. For now, we want to educate people about what an ego is. And how to control it long enough until it is tame or dormant. At this point the soul is mature enough to take over.
4. The soul doesn't need to be educated. It needs opportunities to be strengthened and to grow. This can happen the hard way or the easy way. We support the easy way. Or actually, the easier way, because this is anything but easy. We are just making a comparison here. Reading A Course in Miracles is much easier than being in the school of hard knocks.
5. When you talk to a soul, you are not really communicating with the character they have been playing. You are communicating with an essence.
